Supporting all students

North Regional TAFE has a AccessAbility Coordinator to provide information and advice, and coordinate individual study support for students. You are encouraged to talk with your lecturer or the AccessAbility Coordinator about the impact that your disability or medical condition may have on your study. We work with you to meet your study needs and ensure you are not disadvantaged.

Who can get assistance?

Anyone with a physical, developmental, sensory, neurological or learning disability, medical condition, or mental illness which may impact on their study at NR TAFE can access assistance. Making reasonable adjustments means making changes, providing assistance or alternatives to give you the same opportunities in training as a person without a disability. Disclosure is confidential.

Your rights

The WA Disability Education Standards aim to ensure that people with disability can access and participate in education and training free from discrimination and on the same basis as other students. The standards set out the rights of students with disability and the obligations of education providers. NR TAFE is obliged to consult with you, make reasonable adjustments and eliminate harassment and victimisation.

What assistance can be provided?

NR TAFE can assist individuals by providing one on one orientation, parking and access to our facilities and help with the enrolment process. NR TAFE will provide alternative formats for written materials including texts, such as electronic formats and large print.

Assessment arrangements including extra time, note taker support, oral or alternative assessment can be arranged along with specialised and ergonomic equipment. Individual study support is available to those needing extra support with ongoing support and liaison with NR TAFE staff.
