

Aboriginal Training Advisory Group (ATAG)

Nomination Form

We are now calling for nominations for appointment to NR TAFE Aboriginal Training Advisory Group.

What is the Aboriginal Training Advisory Group?

Members of the Advisory Group will be asked to provide advice on:

1. Vocational Education and Training (VET) programs and support services for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples
2. Support the College in its connection with training and employment providers, Aboriginal community groups, employers, and industry bodies
3. Support requirements of Aboriginal students to complete their existing course of study and transition into further training, education, employment, or other opportunities
4. The development of the College's cultural competence

Who are we looking for?

The Advisory Group requires diversity of membership, skills, and backgrounds to enable it to meet its purpose. Nominations are encouraged from Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Island people who are from or connected to either the Kimberley and Pilbara regions with a variety of skills and experiences and interest in the areas of:

- Vocational Education and Training
- Employment
- Community Development

More broadly,

- People with experience working on Indigenous-led or targeted projects, who can think strategically
- People with the energy and passion
- People who understand the barriers, challenges and responsibilities Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people may face.
